

TRINITY

*Skeletons of plant, animal, and human,
Related by structure, related by need,
Mutually dependent upon one another
For life itself.
Have we the capacity to honor this need,
To allow the plants and animals their own required realm
Which humans do not impinge upon?
Or will we only consider human needs,
Invade their respective spaces,
Leaving only the skeletal remains of this vital trinity of dependence
As a record of our folly.*
